

8. Joint education curriculum and Acquisition of Exam qualification

Major : Veterinary Medicine

Common subject	Course subject/ Research promotion subjects	Degree and Exam qualification that can be acquired
【Veterinary science Course】 Cooperative education subjects 14 credits (Courses led by faculty members of Kagoshima University and of Yamaguchi University) Professional liberal arts subjects 3 credits (Veterinary Science Course provides opportunities for graduate students to acquire advanced-level abilities as researchers, in areas such as code of behavior, ethics, management of intellectual property, and international-level English usage. These courses are necessary for acquisition of advanced-level veterinary medical techniques and knowledge.) Advanced practical subjects 3 credits (Graduate students pursuing the Veterinary Science Course can be awarded credit for the presentation of papers at academic meetings and for the completion of courses at domestic and international organizations other than their graduate schools.)	The Course subject /Research promotion subjects offer a series of special lectures in cooperative education given by research staff members. These include research promotion inputs involving experiments and special practice-based opportunities. (Total of 10 credits)	Doctoral degree (veterinary medicine)
【Veterinary specialization Course】 Cooperative education subjects 14 credits (Same as above) Professional liberal arts subjects 3 credits (Same as above) Special seminar subjects 3 credits (The Veterinary Specialization Course requires graduate students to present papers in academic conferences and to publish articles in relevant journals, which qualifies them for taking an examination to become specialists/certified veterinarians, and also provides graduate students opportunities to receive instruction in required techniques and to gain operational experience and expertise.)	(Same as above)	Doctoral degree (veterinary medicine) Exam qualification as a specialist of experimental animal medicine Exam qualification as a membership of the Japanese College of Veterinary Pathologists *Exam qualification as a Small Animal Surgery Diplomates of Japanese College of Veterinary Surgeons

*After acquiring a doctoral degree (veterinary medicine), it is necessary to go through a resident period.